

DESCRIPTION

Broward County Mayor Beam Furr and Commissioner Nan Rich, Chair of the Broward County Climate Change Task Force, will co-host this event, inviting the participation of municipal officials and business leadership in our community.

We ask that each municipality be represented by its mayor or another member of its commission, and by its city manager or a senior administrator with resilience responsibilities (e.g., director of sustainability, environmental management, public works, etc.).

Conversation will focus on the latest climate and resilience developments in Broward County with a facilitated discussion regarding community concerns, collective advancements, and the need for regional resilient planning and investment.

We expect to hold this Roundtable annually as part of a broader effort to address our community's resilience needs and advance a regional resilience strategy.

There is NO cost to attend, and lunch will be provided.

Please contact Jason Liechty, Senior Environmental Project Coordinator at resilience@broward.org or 954-519-0310 with any questions.

A detailed agenda will be sent out in a few weeks.

In addition, we urge you or representatives of your municipality to attend "Resilience 2018," on Tuesday, May 15, and Wednesday, May 16, at the Intercontinental Hotel, 100 Chopin Plaza, Miami.

This is a two-day convening for public officials and business leaders to learn about the economics of resilience in Southeast Florida, which will provide vital context-setting for the Broward Leaders Roundtable on Climate and Resilience taking place the following week.

In particular, we encourage attendance for the panel discussion on the evening of Tuesday, May 15, at 5:30 pm, with Broward County Mayor Beam Furr, other prominent elected officials (e.g. Miami Mayor Francis Suarez, Miami Beach Mayor Dan Gelber, and Miami-Dade Mayor Carlos Giménez), and regional business leaders.

Various sessions of interest will take place from 9:30 am on Tuesday, May 15, through 11:00 pm on Wednesday, May 16.

There is no charge for Broward County public officials.

Please RSVP at <http://www.rms.com/resilience/#registration>.
