I am a community volunteer, artist, and mother of two young children living in the Three Islands area of Hallandale Beach. For the past three years, my family and I have been actively engaged in environmental and community-focused initiatives, including regular neighborhood clean-ups, park and beach preservation efforts, and educational eco-walks with children. What began as a family habit has grown into a visible community initiative that encourages environmental responsibility through example. My background as an artist allows me to creatively communicate community values, sustainability, and care for public spaces through visual storytelling and social media, helping inspire other families to participate in keeping our parks and recreational areas clean and welcoming. I am passionate about parks, walkable neighborhoods, outdoor family activities, and creating safe, clean, and inspiring public spaces for children. I would be honored to contribute my experience, perspective as a parent, and long-term community involvement to the Parks & Recreation Advisory Board. English is not my first language, but I am actively improving it and am comfortable using translation tools when needed.
